2025 MSBL World Series Hall of Fame*Inductee: Jim Flemming, Puget Sound Senior Baseball LeagueSubmitted by Steve LaMontia-Carlentini, MSBL Director of Communications*

Jim Flemming is an amazing individual. He hasn't been cited by MSBL Founder and President Steve Sigler as a World Series Hall of Fame inductee because of an overpowering batting average or a laundry list of championships. Jim is being recognized for his passion and love of all things baseball. I must also mention that Jim is 84 years 'young' and has no intention of stopping anytime soon. "My first year of playing ball here in Seattle was when I had just turned 48," explained Flemming. "I come from Western Pennsylvania, left home when I was 18, lived in California for 20 years, and finally ended up in the Seattle area. A friend of mine showed me an ad in the paper about tryouts for a new league, and he talked me into tagging along. This was in 1988. I have never been a very good ballplayer, so I wasn't too confident about my chances."

What happened at the tryout?

"I looked around and saw a lot of very good players. This was a 30-over league. I was somewhat older and didn't know how to play very well. I was never a high school player and wasn't too experienced, but I loved the game. I noticed that there were very few catchers, so I said 'I can catch!' I had never been behind the plate in my life, but it was the quickest path to making a team."

As it turned out, the league was able to form a four-team competitive league, and the rest of the guys who didn't get picked up, including Jim, were able to put an additional four-team division together and still play.

"There were still some good players in that division, but it was a little more laid back." A few years later, they formed a 40-over division, which was a little more comfortable for the older ballplayers. "I was able to make it on the Pirates in that division. I still think it wasn't because of any particular skill, but because I wore a patch," chuckled Jim.

"We have lobbied for a 65-over weekday division in the league, and we just finished our second year in 2025. We only have hats for our teams because everyone has so many uniforms from their years on the diamond that you just pull out a uniform and wear it. It's a wonderful division. Our team is appropriately named the (continued on page 2)

Jim Flemming Inducted Into WS Hall Of Fame

MSBL President and founder, Steve Sigler presents longtime PSSBL Aqua Sox manager, Jimmy Flemming with his WS Hall of Fame plaque before the game on Tempe 2 yesterday.

Participation Divisions Include Central / Cactus / Desert and ZonaAt Least 14 Uniformed Players Must Have At Least 1 Plate Appearance Per Game
By Tom Prendergast*

A couple clarifications on batting lineups for teams participating in the MSBL World Series. For the teams that selected these divisions, they must get at least 1 plate appearance for 14 batters, during a scheduled 9 inning game. If a team has 13 or fewer uniformed players, the opposing team will have the option to bat the same number of uniformed players despite the number of uniformed players they have at that game. For example, team A has 13 uniformed players and team B has 21 uniformed players. Team A must get all 13 players at least 1 plate appearance. Team B has the option of only getting 13 players 1 plate appearance as well, despite the fact that they would normally have to get 14 players 1 plate appearance. In the event the game ends with unbatted players, the violating team, under proper protest, will forfeit the game. However, as long as the 14th batter is announced (meaning he steps into the batters box), and the third out occurs before he completes his at bat, then that will satisfy the 14 batters rule. Note: the rule of batting 14 players is in effect regardless if it is a completed 9 inning game or shortened by time. This rule is only in effect during round robin games and will not be a requirement for playoffs and championship games.

A new rule this year requires both teams giving their complete team roster 30 minutes prior to the start of the game. Player eligibility protests must be made before the game starts. This roster must include, first and last names complete with jersey numbers. In addition to this, a notation must be made next to the players name if he has any prior professional experience or has received any kind of special circumstances in order to be included on the WS roster. Each team manager must sign a declaration form, which indicates he has read the criteria for his teams division and has clearly stated his ex-professional players.

2025 MSBL WS Hall of Fame Inductee:
Jim Flemming, Puget Sound Senior Baseball

Legends, and you just go out and play where you want.” When did your MSBL World Series career begin? “My first year in Arizona was in 1993. I went down with some guys from

Denver. I now go with teams from our league, and there are just a few years I haven’t been able to go. Once my wife, Leslie, and I had the opportunity to go to Africa, which we couldn’t pass up, and then I missed it during COVID.”

Are you still playing in Arizona, or are you solely managing teams? “When I turned 79, I went from field manager to General Manager. I now primarily organize everything and leave the field duties to someone else. That also makes me available to maybe get in the game if it is a blowout and they need a right fielder. Sometimes I still go in and catch!”

What is the name of your team this year?

“We are going back as the PSSBL Aqua Sox in the 73-over division. We aren’t very good, but we play for the love of the game and because we still can.” Are there any other MSBL national tournaments that you have played in during your long baseball career? “I’ve been to the Las Vegas tournament a couple of years and also the Desert Classic in Palm Springs a few times. I have also been able to play in the Father/Son division, which is a real treat.”

What draws you to the World Series every year, and how does that mirror your baseball and life philosophy? “Everyone wants to go down and play on the fields their heroes played on. Our team’s philosophy is not about winning, but enjoying each other. We don’t have a drawer full of rings, but that’s not why we’re there. It’s like life in general. You go through life, and you run into people who are helpful and courteous and whom you admire. There have been so many people over the years in Arizona that I have admired immediately.”

Those friendships are priceless and far outlast the ring.” Final thoughts?
